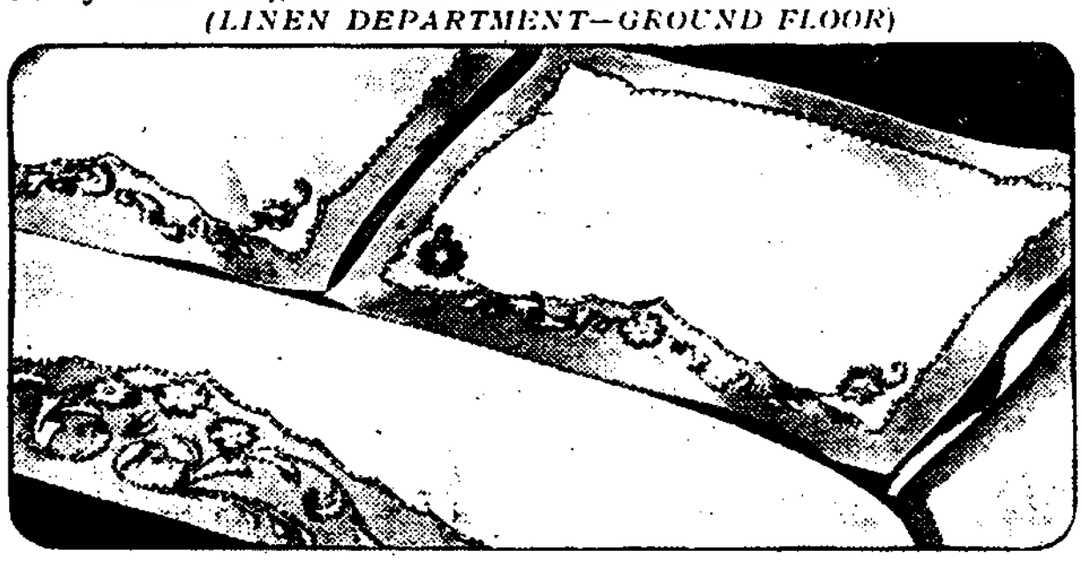
WARINGS

for the Smartest Styles in

Linens

Fine Linen . . . . to-day, as ever, the final touch that spells perfection in the furnishings of the home. At Warings you can see many such original ideas in Linen as those sketched below.

(LINEN DEPARTMENT—GROUND FLOOR)



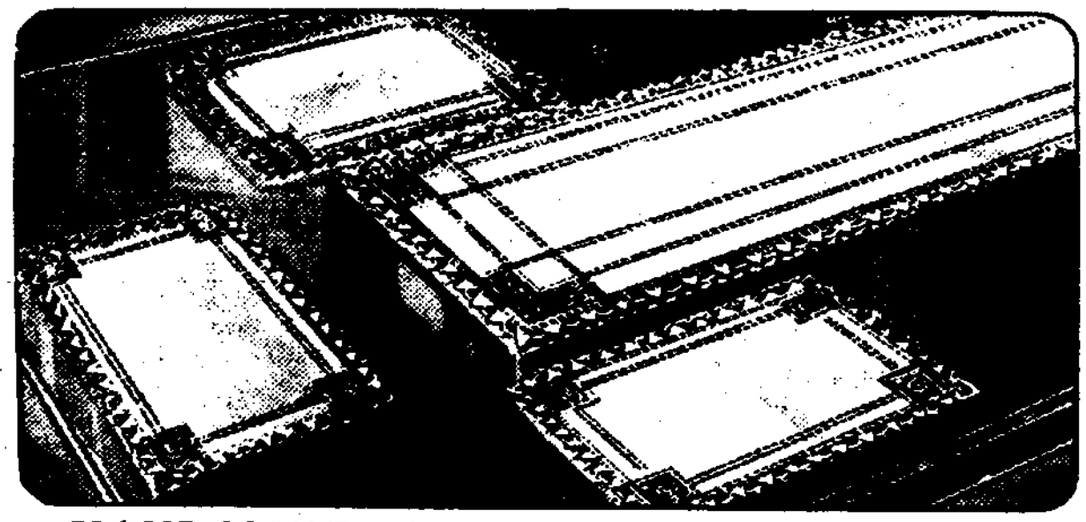
HAND-APPLIQUÉ LINEN SHEET SETS

A delightful new production, in the best of good taste. The sheets and pillow cases are of fine white linen with appliqué border hand-worked in Peach or Green.

Single-Bed Set, comprising 1 Top Sheet, 72 x 117 ins. and 1 Pillow Case, 20 x 30 ins. £1 : 13 : 9.

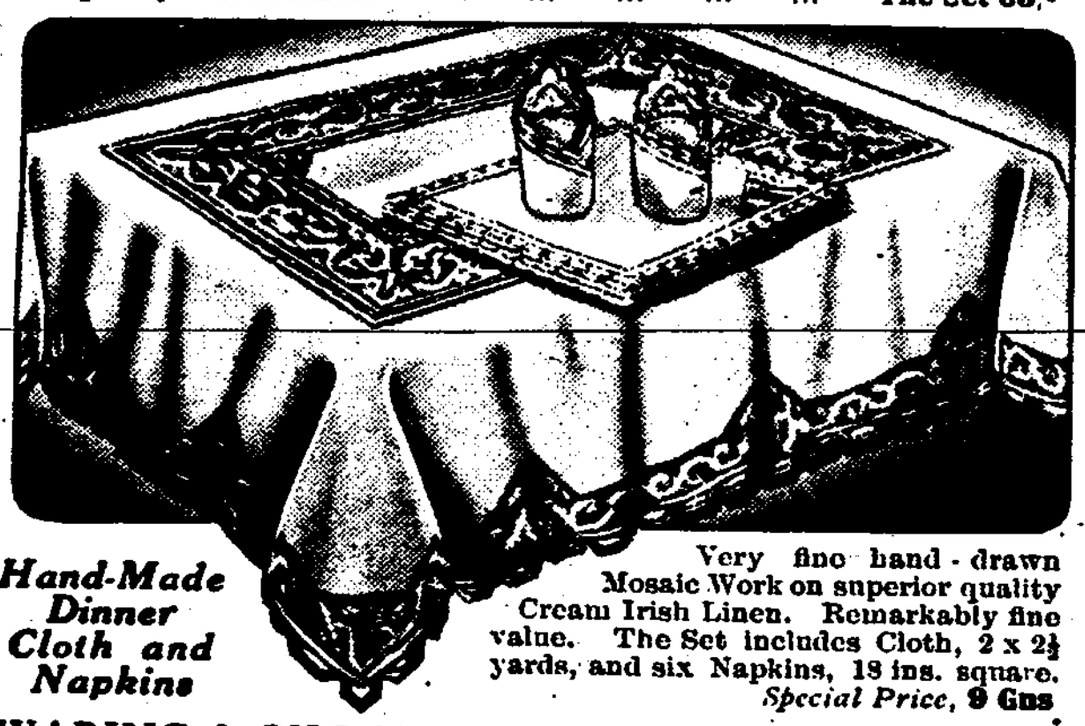
Double-Bed Set, comprising 1 Top Sheet, 90 x 117 ins., with 2 Pillow Cases, 20 x 30 ins. £6 : 13 : 6.

(Also available in All-White at the same prices).



HAND-MADE NEEDLEPOINT DINNER SET

A most distinctive set of 12 Dinner Mats, 12 x 18 ins., with oblong centre, 18 x 45 ins. The hand-made needlepoint Venetian Lace is carried out on fine quality Cream Linen. ... ... The Set 63/-



Hand-Made Dinner Cloth and Napkins

Very fine hand-drawn Mosaic Work on superior quality Cream Irish Linen. Remarkably fine value. The Set includes Cloth, 2 x 2½ yards, and six Napkins, 18 ins. square. Special Price, 9 Gns

WARING & GILLOW (1933) LTD OXFORD ST W1

Two minutes from Oxford Circus. Telephone : MUSeum 5000

"Aryans" Punished for "Rassenschande"

Two "Aryans" have been sentenced to terms of seventeen months' and twelve months' respective imprisonment for maintaining relations with Jewish girls in spite of "Nazi activities to enlighten the German people." Both were deprived of civil rights for three years.

The Criminal Court at Nuremberg-Fürth has sentenced a Jew to eight months' imprisonment for Rassenschande. The defendant was engaged to an "Aryan" woman. The court explained that it had imposed "a mild sentence" since the offence had chiefly been committed abroad, where the couple had been trying to arrange the marriage.

A Jew Acquitted

The Ravensburg Court has acquitted a twenty-eight-year-old Jewish merchant of Altenstadt, accused of racial desecration, on the ground of insufficient proof.

"Few Realise—"

In the course of an article on "Hitler's Three Years of Power," Mr. K. Robson, Berlin Correspondent of the MORNING POST, writes in that journal: "The tragic chapter of the alienation and dispossession of the Jews is as good as concluded, and no longer occupies the German's mind . . . . The huge majority who will vote in favour of the Government will do so in happy ignorance of the true state of affairs, thoroughly deluded for three years by Dr. Goebbels's plausible propaganda. They have been told that Germany is being encircled by the rest of Europe, and they have not the sense or courage to ask why. Few have any idea of the country's embarrassing financial situation, of the cost of re-armament, Jew-baiting, and Nazi propaganda abroad. Few know how many and who are suffering degradation in the concentration camps. Few realise the sufferings of the Jews."

Forbidden to Commemorate War-Dead

The commemoration of Jewish War-dead throughout Germany did not take place last week owing to the refusal of the Nazi authorities to permit any such services. No reason was given for the refusal.

More Firms Transferred

The JUDENSCHE RUNDSCHAU gives further lists of Jewish firms which have now passed into "Aryan" hands. They include Alsberg Brothers of Hildesheim; L. Wortsmann (furniture dealers) and Frank and Rosenbacher (textile merchants) of Munich; Schultz (men's outfitters) of Glogau; and Hermann Seiler (clothiers) of Zittau. The firm of Elias Fromm (clothiers), of Deutsch-Eylau, has also been transferred to "Aryan" hands.

Jew's "Sudden Death" at Police Station

The Munich police announce the "sudden death" at the police station of the prominent Jewish Art Dealer, Siegfried Grey, who was arrested on a charge of storing foreign currency at his premises. A few days after his arrest his family received notification of his "sudden death." The police have refused to deliver his corpse to the family.

Court Condemns Boycott of Jewish Firm

The Supreme Court has given a significant ruling against the action of an "Aryan" firm in inviting the public to boycott a rival Jewish firm. The court found that although the Nazi Party was engaged in propagating the general boycott of Jewish firms, it was not permissible for any single "Aryan" firm to advocate the boycott of a rival Jewish firm, as such propaganda was not in accord with the principles of good manners generally accepted in the commercial world.

Jews Unable to Find Houses

Large numbers of Jews in Berlin are still experiencing great difficulties in finding landlords willing to let houses or flats to them. They are mostly Jews who, as a result of the Nazi economic policy, have found themselves unable to keep up the more expensive houses and flats let to them in the times of prosperity and who are now compelled to look for smaller dwellings. The "Aryan" landlords, however, usually refuse to let any accommodation to Jews.

Who Wants Hitler as a Neighbour?

The following is an extract from a leading article in the BRITISH AUSTRALIAN AND NEW ZEALANDER: "Of all these war-minded nations, Germany, dribbling just now with pacific sentiments from Hitler's mouth, while his feet are set on the road to war, is to European peoples far the most dangerous. In the first place Germany has, or until recently has had, legitimate grievances against France, ourselves and other allies in the Great War. Now, she needs colonies as well as desiring them. Under other rule than that of the bloodstained, tyrannous, megalomaniac Hitler, to whom servile admiration is paid by his countrymen, while by brutality to the Jews and destruction of all liberty he is plunging their country back in barbarism, Germany's claim to restoration of some colonies might be granted; at least it would have sympathy. But to-day, would Australia, for instance, even tolerate the idea of having Germany as a neighbour in New Guinea, establishing secret air bases and submarine bases, collecting war material for a sudden spring when German 'honour' or necessity should demand it? No neighbouring country or colony would be safe